A SITUATION CHANGED.

The Glassell re-union, which we spoke of in a former issue, has been the cause of a good deal of trouble to the residents of Tropicco who are stockholders of the Tropicco Water Co., for it has seemed necessary to the united family, in order to render the occasion a complete success, to raise the water rates, to raise the rates for meter connections, to levy assessments, to trade off all the treasury stock for some of the family's old pipe lines and imaginary pipe stock, to remove the books and papers of the company from the office at Tropicco and conceal them among their penates as something too sacred for the vulgar gaze of the common stockholder.

Even when Judge James tried to separate, by a decree and order of the court, the members of this family union, they could not bear the thought of it, but clung affectionately together, appealing to the Supreme Court, though all the real stockholders were ready to cry "God speed" to the act of divorce. Such unity of purpose in a family is certainly commendable, and we shall say there was not a ^{word} of philanthropy in it! Didn't these Rubes, these country vegetates, need a few bright, business-headed, large-hearted, harmonious people to run their business for them, assuming their property and cares? Listen to poems of praise, gratitude for salary well earned for holding open the family meeting house at Tropicco, gratitude of an eminent Christian for the special privilege of obtaining water service at his neighbor's expense. But alas! those who appreciate and praise are few, while those who complain and execrate are many.

The poor fools want to keep their own property and run their own business, and they resist and plot to dissolve this lovely union that makes one as five and five as one in purpose and transaction. One is a quorum, sure, for it is all in the family, and there is but one idea as to the cooking of the goose.

How cruel how wicked of the no-account stockholders that they should rush in where angels would fear to tread (with anything detachable on them) and raise a row that causes the head of this unity to cry out in a pained voice, "What in h— alls that Tropicco bunch, anyway? I've got taem; what is the use of their holler-ing? It won't do them any good."

Lo, the heathen continue to rage. They even employ a lawyer, and by legal trick, in spite of protest, in spite of physical resistance to the judge's order and the sheriff's writ, flim-flammed that noble outfit out of the company's books. Shame, that such generous-hearted innocence should be taken advantage of. And with those books in their possession, these foolish stockholders are again assuming the control of their property, and the cares and troubles that for a period they were relieved of. "What fools these mortals be."

Putting all joking aside, there never was a rarer or more unscrupulous proposition than this attempt of a rank outsider to gain control of and appropriate to his own uses the property of the Tropicco Water Co. A man with brains, and means, and fairness of purpose, would have been welcomed as a stockholder by almost every member of the company, and heartily assisted in every endeavor to forward the best interests of the company. Now what does this man do? He becomes a stockholder by a trick; he puts in as directors people who have no interest in the company, except to loot it; he removes the books and retains them illegally from the company's office, away from the stockholders, that he may the more securely manipulate them to his advantage, and exchange the treasury stock of the company to a dummy for practically worthless property of his own; he appeals from the judgment of the court against his stool-pigeon board and attempts by trick to get around the effect of the judicial decision; he resists with bluff and even physical force the carrying out of the court's order.

Such a man has neither conscience nor business integrity that can be trusted to hold control so important and necessary to the community as a domestic water company, and the stockholders of the Tropicco Water Co. will certainly neglect a duty they owe to themselves and their neighbors if they do not employ every honorable means to dislodge him from control, and if possible entirely from the company.

Don't wait for one or half a dozen to do it all, but get in and help further the work that has now been well started by a few who have spared neither time nor money in the interest of all. When a call comes for a stockholders' meeting to devise ways to defeat this attempted outrage, attend and lend your willing aid, both moral and financial.

CHRISTMAS EVE AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Christmas eve at the First Presbyterian Church was much enjoyed. There was some very beautiful music and a most enjoyable program prepared by the children. Conventional Christmas greens and strings of red bells formed most attractive decorations. Though the church was well crowded, there was plenty of room for old Santa Claus when he came tumbling down the big chimney, to the joy of the little ones, who shouted with laughter at his merry gifts and doings while distributing gifts from two hand some trees. Candles and red apples were passed, and everybody, being remembered, had a thoroughly delightful time.

There was a splendid re-union family dinner at the M. E. Parsonage on Christmas Day, where the Rev. Mr. Norton and wife gathered their family about them. Covers were laid for twelve, and the decorations were beautiful pink carnations. The sons presented their parents with a very hand some clock, and they were well remembered by their son and wife at Oxnard, Cal. A very fine watch fob was among the gifts which pleased the pastor. Among those present were, besides four sons and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. S. Taylor.

THE F. F. CLUB ENTERTAINS.

At the home of Miss Alma Norton, on Wednesday, December 26th, the F. F. Club, composed of twenty young girls, entertained twenty of their boy friends in a most charming way. There was a beautiful tree containing gifts for their guests, in the parlor. The dining-room was garlanded with red streamers and Christmas greens, and glowing red geraniums. The table contained a large mirror surrounded with smilax and cypress. In this were many red candles reflecting their lights in the glass. In the center was a mass of red carnations. From corner to corner the table was garlanded with the dainty smilax tied effectively with red satin ribbons. The refreshments were most elaborate and in keeping with the season. Games and music were features of the evening's enjoyment.

BOLD POSTOFFICE ROBBERY.

Some time between 12 o'clock and 4 on Thursday morning the Glendale post-office was entered from the rear and robbed of several hundred dollars, most of the registered mail and all the stamps, so that no mail left the city during the early morning hours. Lights were found burning in the rear though they had been turned off by Mr. Fanset the night before. The lock was broken on the safe and papers strewn about the floor. Great quantities of registered mail was missing. About 7 o'clock Thursday morning Mr. C. M. Lund found the lock broken on the door of his blacksmith shop. Inside, a corner was filled with packages, many of which had been opened. In the black dust of the floor lay tiny baby shoes, little woolen jackets, four perfume bottles, silk opera-bags and many dainty pieces of fancy work which had not been made for this destination. Among the mass of strings and papers was a large plug of tobacco and caramels were scattered about.

Mr. Lund immediately telephoned Mr. Fanset, asking if the postoffice had not been robbed. "I guess not," the postmaster replied, a question in his voice. "Well, I have a lot of registered mail here that don't belong to me. Better come and get it," was the answer. Needless to say, Mr. Fanset was not long. It was found that a cold-chisel, a hammer and a pair of tongs were missing from the shop, also a sledge-hammer. That was not all which was found missing, as Dr. Chase discovered when he entered his barn about 8:30 that his horse, buggy and harness were gone. The robbers had torn a board from the back of the barn, not daring to enter the open door at the front on account of the dogs. The horse had been hitched in the road and had been badly beaten as the tracks across and about the road indicated. In the barn was an empty mail-sack and part of the plunder. At 10:30 Inspector Wilson from the post-office department was in Glendale working on the case, and by 11:30 the deputy sheriff had arrived. On account of the heavy rain which fell about 3 o'clock a.m. all tracks which might have been made were entirely effaced.

CHRISTMAS AT "THE PRIORY."

Perhaps none of the many holiday affairs given during the past week were smarter than the perfectly appointed 5 o'clock dinner given at "The Priory," on C street, by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar W. Pack, who are famous in local society as entertainers. For the joyous occasion the beautiful new home had been most artistically garlanded in conventional greens. Archways were twined with clinging English ivy, which also graced the mantels and well-loaded sideboard. In the drawing-room were graceful pepper boughs and gay chimes of Christmas bells. The handsome dining-room presented a picture that long will be remembered by those bidden to the feast. The table was aglow with crimson geraniums and ivy, cut glass and shining silver, which caught the lights of many candles. Seven courses were served. Steaming hot chestnuts and an English pudding in flames were features. All the seasonable delicacies made an appearance, making of the first Christmas dinner at "The Priory" a most sumptuous feast. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Guenthardt and Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Hexmahl and children. After the numerous gifts had been inspected, music and Christmas carols finished the perfect day.

Bro. McClure has sold his Glendale News; and he was making money hand over fist, too.—El Monte Gazette.

We are sorry to learn that after January 1st the Glendale News, established and conducted by Editor McClure, will pass into other hands, he having sold out to J. C. Sherer and E. B. Riggs. The News, under the direction of Bro. McClure, has done much for the up-building of Glendale, and while we extend a hearty welcome to his successors, we dislike to see him go. However, we wish you much success, Mac, in your new "official" position.—San Fernando Press.

If you will kindly put us "next" to the "official" part of our new position, we'll know what the "josh" is about. We're not looking for "official positions," thank you, brother.

At the election held Tuesday in Glendale to disincorporate that town, the "stand-patters," under the leadership of E. M. McClure, of the Glendale News, came out with flying colors. The vote stood 46 for disincorporation, and 224 against. The Enterprise congratulates the progressive element on their victory. To have voted otherwise than they did would have given the town a blow from which it would have taken years to recover. Now the town will rapidly forge ahead and take its place as one of the most charming residential towns in this section. Bro. McClure, editor of the Glendale News, worked valiantly to save the town from the calamity of disincorporation and the people of Glendale should—and probably do—appreciate his work in their interests.—Sawtelle Enterprise.

Sound the glad tidings to the world that the beautiful little city of Glendale is still on the map. A few kickers and malcontents got their heads together over there some time since and petitioned for an election to decide whether the city should be disincorporated or not. And last week the matter came to a vote. The progressive people sat down so hard on the kickers that it is said not one of them has been in evidence since the day of election. They have literally crawled into their holes, and like the badger, have drawn the hole in after them. The vote stood 244 in favor of keeping the city government intact, while but a measly forty-six votes could be mustered in favor of disincorporation, notwithstanding the loud noise that was made, and the boasts of what would be done when the polls were opened. Oh, Glendale is all right, and it has one of the nicest little newspapers to uphold it that can be found on the Coast. And Editor McClure wears that seven by seven smile of his in a way that says plainly it will never come off. Congratulations, Glendale.—South Pasadena.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

On Monday evening at the Baptist Church was given the most ambitious entertainment attempted in the new church. The decorations were most handsome and elaborate, put up under the supervision of the Young People's Bible Class, much credit being due Mr. Meeker. A large star of English ivy, lighted with an electric bulb, was very beautiful. Mr. Graves of Tropicco had charge of the music, consisting of carols and hymns. A purse was presented to the beloved pastor by Mr. Meeker in behalf of the church, and also one to Mrs. H. W. Charlton, as a slight token of appreciation of her work as organist for the year just passed. The large tree was a decided success.

To Friends and Patrons

With the new year, THE GLENDALE NEWS changes management and the change is being made purely from a business standpoint—the new management having purchased the paper at what the old management believed to be the commercial value of the property.

Had sentiment entered into the deal, there never would have been a change in the management, for we have brought success to this enterprise after travelling a road that has been decidedly rough in many places and beset with many pitfalls, which has brought to us a sentiment for the paper that cannot be set aside.

The editor has not completed the journey without scratch or blemish, but we can truly say that THE GLENDALE NEWS has been kept pure and clean from contamination, and its editor and owner has been able to make it the agency of much good in advancing the moral and material prosperity of Glendale and the Valley.

The paper has been the agent of great good to this section, and it has been a success from a financial standpoint as well, and while we are truly thankful to all our patrons for the liberal support that has been accorded us, still we are certain that the paper has deserved the support it has received.

We have worked hard to build up Glendale and we know of a certainty that our efforts have been crowned with success. In our labors in this direction we have the assurance of having won the respect and friendship of the best citizens of Glendale and the Valley, for which we are truly thankful. We have made some enemies, and we have a clear conscience in that direction.

We predict a great future for Glendale and the San Fernando Valley, and the future success will depend in a great measure upon the young business men and the new blood that is continually being added to our population. Narrow and sectional lines should be abolished and everybody work for the common good.

The business men of Glendale have contributed much to the success of the paper and the growth of this fair little city, and every resident of Glendale should patronize the home institutions.

The churches, in most instances, have stood loyally by the paper, and we have faithfully endeavored to give each and everyone just representation.

We have earnestly endeavored to advance the best interests of the schools.

We have been impartial in regard to social matters and though there naturally have been omissions and mistakes, no one can say that they were caused from malice.

We have a special kindly feeling for the people of Burbank, Tropic and Toluca and we have donated much space to their cause in relation to the rights of the usage of the water in the ranchers' wells for irrigation purposes. The people of these places have shown their appreciation, as is evidenced by the many subscribers to the paper from these localities. Though the editor will no longer be able to continue fighting the cause of these good people through the columns of THE NEWS, still, he will ever be found doing what he can as an individual to expose the rottenness of the contention of Los Angeles and her hirelings, that the city owns the water.

We expect to remain in this section and make our home here, for there is not a better people, a fairer valley, a healthier climate, a richer soil or a section that has a brighter prospect than Glendale and the entire San Fernando valley.

The new owners of the paper are well known to the people of Glendale and the valley and we bespeak for them the same co-operation and support from a moral and business standpoint, that has been accorded THE NEWS in the past.

Hotel Glendale—Its Excellent Service

Of the many people who were feasted on Christmas day, none were more fortunate than those who enjoyed the many good things that were prepared by Mrs. Sawyers at the Hotel Glendale. The guests on this occasion were Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Hunt and daughter Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Vesper, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wells, son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Comstock and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Skinner, Mrs. Shirley and son, of Seattle, Wash., Miss Stanville, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Taylor and sons, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. McClure, son and daughter.

The menu consisted of olives, celery, bouillon, salad, roast turkey and dressing, cranberry sauce, roast pork and apple sauce, mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes, sweet corn, plum pudding, mince pie, cheese, apples, oranges, raisins, nuts, tea and coffee. The tables were very attractive in spotless damask and the dining room was beautifully decorated in green, brown and red. Mrs. Sawyers, before coming to Glendale, had the management of the Pacific Hotel, the leading hostelry of Pomona, and gained the reputation of conducting the best hotel in Southern California outside of some of the larger hotels in Los Angeles, Pasadena and Riverside. Mrs. Sawyers has one of the best woman cooks in the state, besides the services of Miss Hogan, a popular caterer of Los Angeles.

Very few towns the size of Glendale are fortunate in having a hotel that will equal the Hotel Glendale and our citizens should patronize this institution and encourage its management to continue the perfect service that is being accorded the public at the present time.

THE M. E. FESTIVAL.

The Christmas cantata given at the M. E. Church on Monday evening was decidedly successful. On a platform built in the Sunday School room were 30 little children when the doors were drawn back. Little Margaret Byrkit and Miss Birdie Shropshire gave beautifully rendered selections, which were well received. A pleasing feature was a huge pie containing six little children "when the pie was opened." Santa Claus came through the fire place just as the children hoped he would do, and aroused no end of fun. On behalf of the members of the church, Mr. Gulvin presented to the pastor a handsome Morris chair, and to Mrs. Norton a fine rocker, which pleased them greatly.

Mr. M. Z. Remsburg, in a few well-chosen words, presented to Miss Lillian Ward a purse, "because of efficient and cheerful service rendered as organist of her church." Miss Ward says her heart was full, and she could not fully voice the thanks which she felt was due.

Great credit for the success of the cantata is due Miss Ward, Mrs. Ed Lee, and also Mr. Tom Watson. They labored faithfully and well, and success was their reward.

MR. AND MRS. ANDERSSON ENTERTAIN.

Quaintly attractive was the Christmas party given by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cornelius Andersson. Fourth and C streets, on Christmas Day, for relatives in Glendale and Los Angeles. The beautiful drawing-room was garlanded with holiday greenery, which contrasted well with the rich mahogany finish which served as a handsome background for Christmas bells of holly red. In the dining room ferns and flowers were artistically arranged the color scheme here being red and white. Over the table hung the lovely white wedding bell which had been used at their marriage service, and underneath, in the center of the board was a tiny tree, loaded with gifts and tinsel, such as is found on every table in Norway at the Christmas-tide.

Covers were laid for fifteen. After a sumptuous feast the company enjoyed Norwegian songs and stories by the genial host. The affair was as enjoyable as it was unique.

Miss Elizabeth Jenkins of Oshkosh, Wis., is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. S. Traphagan on Louise street. This is Miss Jenkin's first visit to Glendale and she is infatuated with its beauty and our perfect climate, and though she has visited Pasadena, she thinks our location more beautiful and our climate better.

A "really truly" California Christmas dinner was that given to family and relatives by Mrs. W. S. Mills, on Fifth and A streets, on Tuesday afternoon. Covers were laid for twenty guests, and the splendid feast was spread on a long table on the spacious porch. This proved a delightful scheme and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. C. A. Weidenfeller of Glendale avenue, has been on the sick list for several days. On Tuesday she was very seriously ill and her recovery was doubtful; but now she is slowly improving. Paralysis of the nerves was feared, the left side being affected. Her recovery is earnestly hoped for by the many friends she has made during her residence in Glendale.

On Christmas day a charming affair was the dinner given by Miss Ann Grant to eight of her friends. The home was beautiful with decorations of smilax and holly. Games and music were features of the afternoon. Among those invited were Alma Norton, Nettie Watson, Edna Baxter, Rosie Haufman, Alfred Hezmalhalch, John Fischel, Stanley Schofield and Loran Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McIntyre, C street, entertained with a charmingly appointed and original dinner on Tuesday, Dec. 25th. The affair was in the nature of a family reunion, and covers were laid for eleven. Among artistically arranged greenery were twelve red and green candles, one lighted for each month of the coming year, which made a most effective decoration. The entire day was one which proved most delightful.

Among the many pleasant family reunions which occurred on Christmas day none proved more enjoyable than that held at the home of Mrs. H. N. Harris, Third street. The table was beautified with large pink roses and delicate greenery. Those seated were Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Byram, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Ayres, Miss Esther Stiver, Ohio; Miss Ruth Byram, Mrs. S. Galoway, Mr. and Mrs. J. Banker and Miss Lavina Banker. Later some very fine music was enjoyed.

A very happy week-end affair was that arranged very charmingly by Miss Bertha Patterson, at her home on D street, for the members of the K. S. T. club and their girl friends. The house was most attractive in decorations of green and red, and a splendid tree was an important feature, from which gifts were distributed by Elmer Nelson, costumed as old Santa's messenger boy. Delicious refreshments were served later, and a good Christmas game was enjoyed.

A dainty informal affair was the Christmas dinner given on Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dell Samson, Third street, when they entertained relatives in a most charming manner. The home was effectively decorated with pepper boughs and holiday greenery. Above the table was a handsome red bell encircled with cypress wreaths. Gay red streamers reached to the corners of the board, which was most artistically arranged for the feast. Covers were laid for eighteen. Later there was a distribution of gifts from a handsome tree.

Dr. Hunt, wife and little daughter Dorothy entertained Mr. and Mrs. Merton Skinner of Anaheim, with a splendid course dinner on Tuesday at Hotel Glendale.

One of the gayest social affairs of the holiday season was when Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Fraley entertained on Christmas night with a family reunion party from Los Angeles and Glendale. There was a tree big enough for a church festival, from which many gifts were distributed during the evening. There was an attractive buffet luncheon and music and games. A feature of the evening was an airship race, which caused heartiest laughter. The home was most attractive in red-bells, Christmas greens and glowing American Beauty roses.

One of the delightful affairs of the week was a handsomely-appointed dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. George Ward and daughter Lillian, Third street, on Christmas day. Covers were laid for sixteen. The color scheme was red and white and masses of glowing red geraniums were employed.

Later singing and general conversation were thoroughly enjoyed. Among the invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ward; Mr. and Mrs. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Farrand, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Varney and family.

There is nothing the matter with the climate of Glendale! Be sure and mail this week's News abroad and spread the gospel of Southern California in the frozen East, where we all came from, where the inhabitants, instead of enjoying picnics on the mountains and in the canyons, as we do, on Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, remain bottled up for seven months out of the twelve; where the turkey must be thawed before it is roasted; where a "green Christmas" is loved not, and holidays have a blizzard accompaniment as a matter of course.

Lawrence Ward and family, Mrs. Witham of Seventh street and family, Mrs. and Miss Wood of Los Angeles, Madame Nichols and Miss Nichols, Mr. Booth and Mr. Byron Clark and family.

WELL KNOWN FAMILY GOING NORTH.

Mr. Gulvin and two eldest sons, Harry and Chester, leave soon for the new eighty-acre ranch in Merced recently purchased by Mr. Gulvin. The rest of the family are to leave in the near future, to the regret of their many friends in local circles.

Mr. and Mrs. Gulvin and son Harry, their six-months-old, arrived in Glendale just thirteen years ago, and they have lived here ever since. Mr. Gulvin says all the children are Glendaleites and that he intends to reserve a home spot here to return to in case they do not like ranch life among strangers. They intend to raise deciduous fruits, grain and large quantities of sweet potatoes. Mrs. Gulvin has two uncles who live in that vicinity. She has been an earnest worker and will be greatly missed in church and other circles.

Mr. Gulvin has for years been connected with the Independent Water Company.

SUDDENLY SUMMONED.

Mrs. Amella Kennedy died at her home on Second street, on Tuesday night, December 25th, at 11:15, after quietly passing a happy day with her children, two daughters and a son. Shortly before retiring she remarked that this had been the happiest Christmas she had spent in many years, and bidding each one good night, she retired to enter her last sleep.

The family only recently came to Glendale to live, though previously Mrs. Kennedy had spent some time in the Glendale Sanitarium. The climate here proved so beneficial that she purchased the fine home of Edgar W. Pack, on Second street.

Mrs. Kennedy came to Glendale from Del Mar, near San Diego. She lived many years in Denver, Colo., and also for a time in Auburn, Cal. Since last July Glendale has been her home.

SKATING RINK OPEN TUESDAY THURSDAY AND SATURDAY.

The Glendale Skating Rink, which has been shut down for some time, will again be open to the public on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays of each week. This has been decided upon by the management, as many of Glendale's young people have been compelled to go to Los Angeles for amusement and recreation at a much greater expense and a great loss of time and sleep. The thing for Glendale people to do is to support all legitimate pastime for its young people rather than have them go to the city and indulge in, to say the least, expensive and questionable ways of amusement.

The following letter received in Glendale, Dec. 20, was mailed in Skowhegan, Maine, on Dec. 14th, and will be of interest to many readers of the "News":

My Dear Mr. and Mrs. B—

Yesterday morning I had the most delightful ride of my life. It had snowed the night before and we were the first to make a road. We seemed to be riding over a field of diamonds. Through the woods we rode, through an archway of white-lace covered with diamonds.

The brightness dazzled my eyes, and the tinkle of the silver bells, and the wind through the trees made music to dream about. I never before so realized the blessedness of sight and sound, and I thought of you.

Upon returning, we had the odor of the fir balsam. That is something you can enjoy, and so I am sending you by the same mail as this the odor of the fir in the shape of a pillow, and I hope you will enjoy it and imagine the rest. With very best wishes,

MRS. J. C. SHERER.

Application of O. W. Hanson to do street work by private contract on a portion of B street was, on motion, granted.

Report of Tax Collector showing receipts for previous week of four hundred and twenty-seven dollars and fifteen cents, and accompanied with treasurer's receipt for like amount, was received and placed on file.

In his report the tax collector says there has been approximately $3000 paid in up to date and taxes will be delinquent Dec. 31 next. This is not much more than one-half the amount due and there will be a list of delinquents on from two to three hundred pieces of property and represented by nearly that many persons.

A petition was received asking that a special election be called to determine whether the city of Glendale shall issue bonds to raise funds to be expended for city hall, fire apparatus and library. Referred to a committee consisting of R. A. Blackburn, Horace Overton, and E. S. Comstock to recommend the amounts of said bonds.

The committee reported as follows: For city hall, $17,000; for fire apparatus and library, $5000. On motion the report was accepted and the city attorney instructed to prepare the necessary papers, calling a special election in accordance with same.

A deed was presented conveying from E. T. Byram and H. M. Byram, his wife, to the City of Glendale, the southerly twenty feet of lot 30, block 3, of the town of Glendale, to be used for alley purposes. On motion referred to the city clerk with instructions to obtain from Mr. Byram written evidence that the property described is free of incumbrance and to report at next meeting.

On motion an ordinance granting to San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company, a corporation, and its successors and assigns, the right to construct and for a period of fifty years to operate and maintain a single track railroad over, across and along certain public streets and alleys of the City of Glendale, and was taken up for a first reading.

On motion the Police and Sanitary Committee and the city health officer were instructed to recommend the boundaries of that part of the city of Glendale in which it shall be unlawful to have open vaults.

On motion, the Street Superintendent was instructed to clean out street gutters where in his discretion it may be necessary, and to serve notice on property owners whose street trees need trimming, as provided in Ordinance No. 21, Section 4.

Meeting adjourned.

UNCLE SAM HELPS SANTA CLAUS.

The Christmas mail this year was the heaviest ever known in Glendale. Aside from the usual force, extra help was employed at the postoffice, yet Mr. Fanset says they were completely swamped. Packages were handed out constantly, yet the piles seemed to grow greater instead of less, the mails bringing them in faster than they were distributed. Everything was done, however, to get them distributed as soon as possible to the good-natured, eager crowds eagerly waiting for the arrival of each mail. If Glendale continues to grow as it has in the past few months, we may soon need even a larger postoffice than the fine new one of which we are so proud.

THE RICE ANNIVERSARY.

One of the smartest affairs ever given locally was the social success given on Thursday evening, December 20th, by Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rice, Central and Tropico avenues, when they celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage with a silver wedding.

The grounds were brilliantly lighted with red and white electric bulbs strung among the peppers and palms. The porches were tastefully decorated with palms and ferns, one being arranged as a rest room, where punch was served.

Underneath a canopy of green boughs and white satin ribbons the bridal couple received, all told, nearly three hundred people, as two sets of invitations had been issued, reading from 6 to 8, and from 8 to 11.

Mrs. Rice was beautiful in rich white silk and honiton lace, with bride roses in her hair.

Assisting her in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. John Seaman, Dr. and Mrs. Conrad, and Mrs. Delano of Los Angeles.

During the entire affair sweet string music was played. For the first set of hours music was furnished by Mr. Fish, Mr. Fisher, Messrs. Guy and Jay Rice. For the second set, Delano's String Club, Los Angeles, and Clarence Peck, Glendale.

There are still several members in this club who played together six years ago, and Mr. Rice was pleased to obtain their services for this happy occasion.

In one room the many rich and elaborate gifts of silver were beautifully displayed, showing well the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Rice are held among the friends from Tropico, Pasadena and Glendale, who had come to do them honor. In the dining-room the table presented a work of art, being effectively spread in the most artistic manner, the color scheme of silver, green and white being most pleasing. Above was a canopy of greenery, built about a handsome mission shade, and tied with love-knots of white satin ribbon. From this broad bands of ribbon and delicate greenery reached to the four corners, where the elaborate love-knots were repeated. In the center reposed a magnificent wedding cake. Even the bon-bons were in pale green and white. Miss Madeline Malcom and Miss Catherine Seaman, each gowned in airy white, poured. The supper was served by caterers sent up from the city. Each guest was presented with a dainty ribbon-tied package of wedding cake.

For the past eighteen years Mr. and Mrs. Rice have lived on that corner and are well known throughout the valley. Recently the home has been entirely remodeled and refurnished, and with its polished floors, and handsome Oriental rugs and artistic drapery, presents a handsome appearance.

Gowns of the ladies in the receiving line were as follows: Mrs. Harvey, black velvet costume, garniture of white chiffon and Irish point; Mrs. Conrad, gas-blue silk mull, blue silk girdle, lace garniture; Mrs. Delano, pastel-blue crepe de chene, velvet; Mrs. Seaman, white silk and roses.

Many other handsome gowns were worn, making of the affair a most charming picture to be remembered.

The quaintly charming bungalow home of Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey Jr. was pleasingly decorated with Christmas greens for the charming affair on Christmas Day, when they entertained relatives and friends with a course dinner of seasonable good things. At 4 o'clock there was a distribution of gifts from the sparkling tree, to the joy of the little ones especially. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Seaman and children, Miss Catherine Seaman, Mr. Clay Seaman, and the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Sellers of Chicago, stopping for the winter at Hotel Green, Pasadena. Mrs. Sellers is a handsome and cultured blonde, a sister of Mrs. Harvey, who for twenty years has spent the winters in Coronado and Pasadena.

TROPICO

Mrs. J. Webster and family spent Christmas with Mrs. Webster's mother, on Vermont avenue, Los Angeles.

Mr. C. R. Schew of "Los Flores," Central avenue, has returned from Salt Lake City to spend the holiday season in Tropic.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rice entertained on Christmas day with a holiday dinner. Aside from relatives were Dr. and Mrs. Conrad. The home was beautifully decorated for the happy occasion.

One of the most charming of the Christmas affairs occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Peckham on Tropic, when for the first time they entertained with a family reunion dinner in their beautiful new house when covers were laid for twenty-three.

The color scheme of green and red and gold gave the hostess opportunities to display the most artistic taste, the holiday spirit prevailing in the decorations of beautiful roses and chrysanthemums, Christmas bells and holly. A pleasing feature of the affair was a huge Christmas ball, filled with gifts for each one present. Later gifts were distributed from a gorgeous tree and music and seasonable games were enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hobbs, Central avenue, entertained most delightfully on Christmas day with a family party. The lovely home was most tastefully decorated with the traditional colors of scarlet and green and red bells bespoke the Christmas-tide. There was also a handsome tree, loaded with gifts. Covers were laid for fourteen. Among those invited were Mr. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. John Logan; Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson and son; and Mr. B. S. West.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Murry entertained at Christmas dinner in their cozy little home, "The Snuggery" on Glendale avenue, Tropic. The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Northcott, Miss Scott and Mr. Scott, Tropic; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown and children and Mr. and Mrs. Ed B. Church of Los Angeles; and Mrs. Moore of Santa Fe. The party enjoyed an auto ride to Burbank in the afternoon and in the evening a tree was enjoyed by the children. The dinner was served in grand old Southern style and was of course bountiful. The entire party say they had a most enjoyable time and that Mrs. Murry is a grand hostess.

MR. AND MRS. T. O. PIERCE ENTERTAIN.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Pierce entertained friends in their elegant new home on E. street in the McIntyre Miner tract on Christmas day. The interior was tastefully decorated with mistletoe and holly berries. A Christmas tree, heavily laden with beautiful gifts for the old as well as the young, was "the best ever" in the eyes of the eager little ones and the older "children" entered into their joy with a will. The lovely spread in the large dining room was a goodly sight and the jolly crowd around its board did justice to the many good things their hostess set before them.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Pierce, Sr., Mr. O. Pierce, Banning, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Meadows and son Sydney of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Brown and son Ernest of Glendale, Carl Burson of Pittsburgh, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bulkeley and Miss Laura Bulkeley.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES.

At the M. E. Church on Sunday morning the sermon topic will be "Paying Thy Vows." For the evening service "The Value of the Soul" has been prepared, along the lines of beautiful thoughts for the new year. Special music has been prepared.
